DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 8/27/2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 38-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for the peripheral joined to the side wall in proximity to the first end of the mounting cup, does not reasonably provide enablement for the bottom wall joined to the sidewall in proximity to the first end of the mounting cup, the first region of said sidewall and said bottom wall being located radially inwardly relative to said second region of said sidewall to provide a mounting surface for securing the collapsible container to said mounting cup; and said first region of said sidewall and said bottom wall being located radially inwardly relative to said second region of said sidewall a distance sufficient to provide clearance for inserting the improved mounting cup and the attached collapsible container through the opening defined by the bead of the aerosol container.

The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. See in claims 38, lines 8-11 and lines 16-22.

4. Claims 47 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for the mounting cup extending between a first end and a second end with the cylindrical sidewall interconnecting the first end with the second ends of the mounting cup; the cylindrical sidewall having a cylindrical axis coincident with an axis of symmetry of the mounting cup; the cylindrical sidewall having a first cylindrical region in proximity to the first end of the mounting cup and a second cylindrical region in proximity to the second end of the mounting cup; the first cylindrical region of the cylindrical sidewall being integrally joined to the peripheral rim for sealably securing the mounting cup to the bead of the aerosol container; the second cylindrical region of the cylindrical sidewall being integrally joined to the bottom wall forming junction thereat, does not reasonably provide enablement for said second region of said sidewall and said bottom wall being located radially inwardly relative to said second region of said sidewall to provide a recessed mounting surface for securing the collapsible container to said mounting cup; and said recessed mounting surface being located radially inwardly relative to said second region of said sidewall a distance sufficient to provide clearance for inserting the improved mounting cup and the attached collapsible container through the opening defined by the bead of the aerosol container.

The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make the invention commensurate in scope with the claim.

5. Claim 48 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for the mounting cup extending between a first end and a second end with the cylindrical sidewall interconnecting the first end with the second ends of the mounting cup; the cylindrical sidewall having a cylindrical axis coincident with an axis of symmetry of the mounting cup; the cylindrical sidewall having a first cylindrical region in proximity to the first end of the mounting cup and a second cylindrical region in proximity to the second end of the mounting cup; the first cylindrical region of the cylindrical sidewall being integrally joined to the peripheral rim for sealably securing the mounting cup to the bead of the aerosol container; the second cylindrical region of the cylindrical sidewall being integrally joined to the bottom wall forming junction thereat, does not reasonably provide enablement for said second region of said sidewall and said bottom wall being located radially inwardly relative to said second region of said sidewall to provide a recessed mounting surface for securing the collapsible container to said mounting cup; and said recessed mounting surface being located radially inwardly relative to said second region of said sidewall a distance sufficient to provide clearance for inserting the improved mounting cup and the attached collapsible container through the opening defined by the bead of the aerosol container.

The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make the invention commensurate in scope with the claim.

6. In view of the 35 U.C 112 issues, comment as to the allowability of the claims 38-48 cannot make at this time.

7. Amendments to the specification as mentioned in the remarks filed 8/27/07 have not been received in the record.
